

Contents

Tartalomjegyzék

Szerkesztői bevezető	169
Tabula Gratulatoria	171
Gábor ALBERTI, Mónika DÓLA & Judit KLEIBER Mood and modality in Hungarian: Discourse Representation Theory meets Cognitive Linguistics	172
József ANDOR A train of thought on the train of + N construction	192
Réka BENCZES What can we learn about the mental lexicon from non-prototypical cases of compounding? A cognitive linguistic perspective	205
Károly BIBOK Lexical semantics meets pragmatics	221
Mario BRDAR & Rita BRDAR-SZABÓ Metonymies we (don't) translate by: The case of complex metonymies	232
Péter CSATÁR X IS A JAIL: A pilot study from a hybrid theoretical point of view	248
Attila CSERÉP Conceptual Metaphor Theory: in defence or on the fence?	261
Bálint Péter FURKÓ Cooption over grammaticalization: The characteristics of discourse markers reconsidered	289
Gábor GYŐRI On the primacy of metonymic construal in lexicalization processes	301
Irén HEGEDŰS Affix doublets and affix rivalry in the history of English	312
László HUNYADI, István SZEKRÉNYES, László CZAP & István SZIKLAI Seeing the sounds?	325

Géza KÁLLAY
Some philosophical problems about metaphor: A brief overview	339
Krisztina KÁROLY
Discourse production and translation: A cognitive approach to the (re)creation of rhetorical structure	346
András KERTÉSZ
The armchair in the laboratory: A note on the relationship between introspective thought experiments and real experiments in linguistics	359
Miklós KONTRA
A Hungarian syntax in hiding	372
Béla KORPONAY
Postpositions, “part-of-speechness”, negation, and other matters	376
Zoltán KÖVECSES
Context-induced variation in metaphor	392
Nóra KUGLER
The dynamic construal of epistemic meaning	403
Tibor LACZKÓ
On verbs, auxiliaries and Hungarian sentence structure in Lexical-Functional Grammar	421
Pál LIELI
The Great Vowel Shift: Conflicts and solutions	439
Sándor MARTSA
Rule or analogy? The case of English conversion	449
Enikő NÉMETH T.
Intentions and perspectives in the social forms of language use	472
Gergely PETHŐ & Éva KARDOS
On the empirical foundations of the detransitivisation analysis of unaccusatives	486
Günter RADDEN
Making sense of negated modals	519
Csilla RÁKOSI
On the rhetoricity of psycholinguistic experiments	533
György RÁKOSI
Possessed by something out there: On anaphoric possessors in Hungarian	548

Gyula SANKÓ
Scholarly texts flavoured with conversational features: A corpus-based study of Hungarian EFL Learners' academic writing	560
Gábor TOLCSVAI NAGY
General and definite verb inflection: a semantic approach	576
Ágoston TÓTH
The Distributional Compatibility Relation	588
Enikő TÓTH
Gestural demonstratives in English: an experiment	600