

Contents

Tibor LACZKÓ: Introduction	271
László CSERESNYÉSI & Miklós KONTRA Empirical linguistics: A cautious obituary	276
Csaba CSIDES Word-stress and the distribution of consonant clusters in English	287
Gábor ALBERTI, Anastasia SAYPASHEVA FELVIZI-VERESS, Atieno Linda OUMA & Judit FARKAS A Givónian perspective on the relation of verbal and non-verbal person suffixes in Hungarian	300
Tatiana DAVIDYUK Agreement with disjoined subjects in Russian.....	322
Lada PASKO Symmetricity, postposition, and hydras: Experimental evidence against the ATB-analysis of partial agreement in Russian.....	336
Enikő TÓTH, Péter CSATÁR & György RÁKOSI A little more of that , a bit less of this : A probe into demonstrative use in Hungarian child language	356
Péter SZŰCS Hungarian clausal proleptic demonstratives as predicates	372
Patrick BRANDT Verboten reflexivization and hidden meaning in German reflexive inchoative, zu -excessive and particle verb structures	389
Etelka TÓTH & Tamás CSONTOS Simonyi competition in the teaching of Hungarian as a first language in the Carpathian Basin: Variation in the results	406
Krisztina NEUMAYERNÉ STREITMAN Crafting a professional teacher learner through models of learning and positive psychological coaching tools	420
Levente Zoltán KIRÁLY Parallelizing Bible texts: Developing the database of the Unified Bible Reader online application	438